JusticeX informs; the parties, with their own counsel or a neutral, decide.

The Principle of Symmetric Comparison

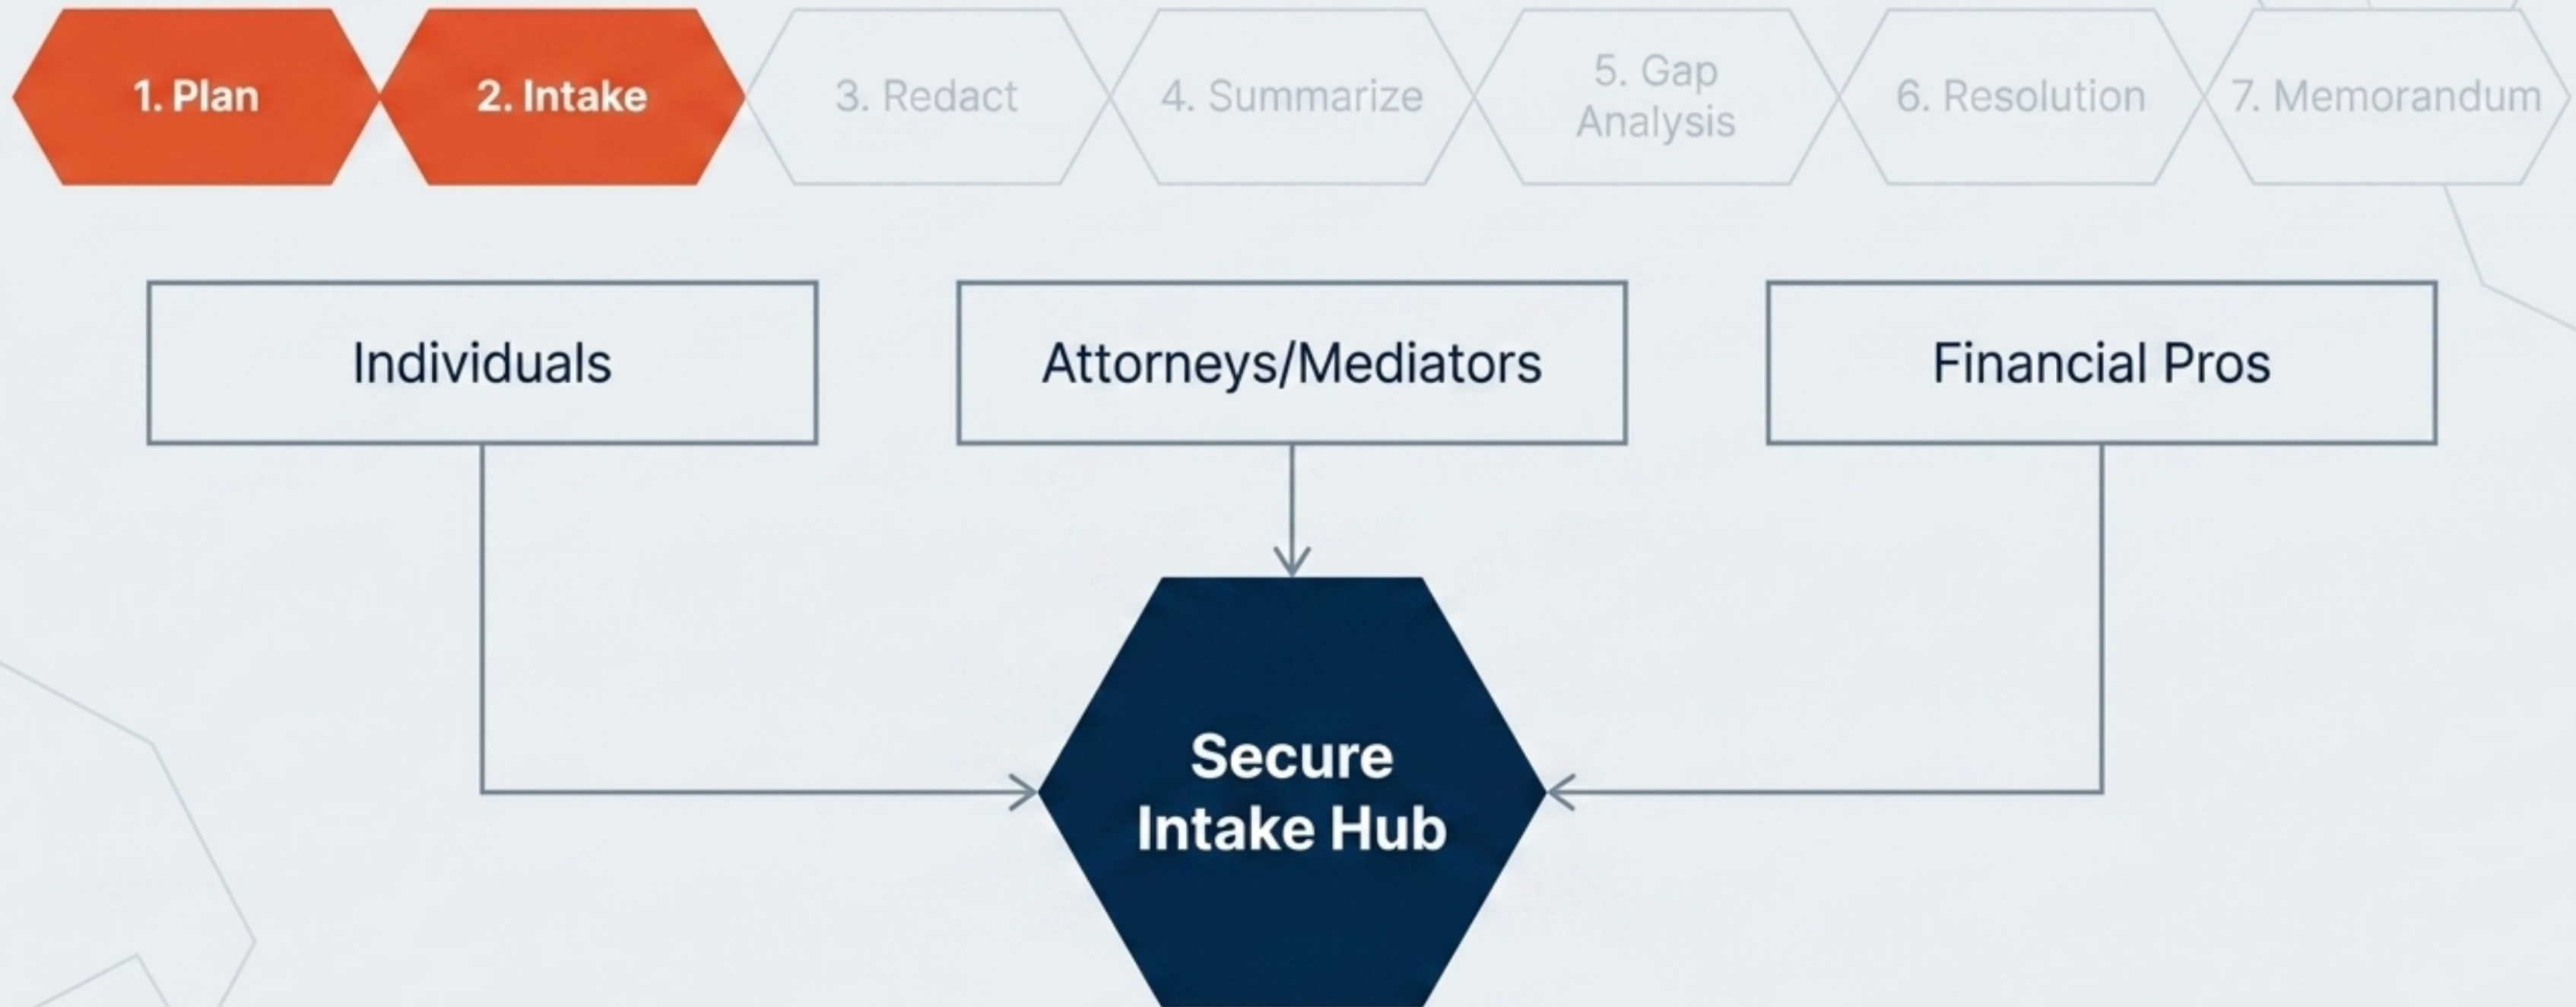

JusticeX compares Party A and Party B using each party's own documented inputs. Both sides receive the exact same structural treatment and analysis.

The Seven-Step Objective Pipeline

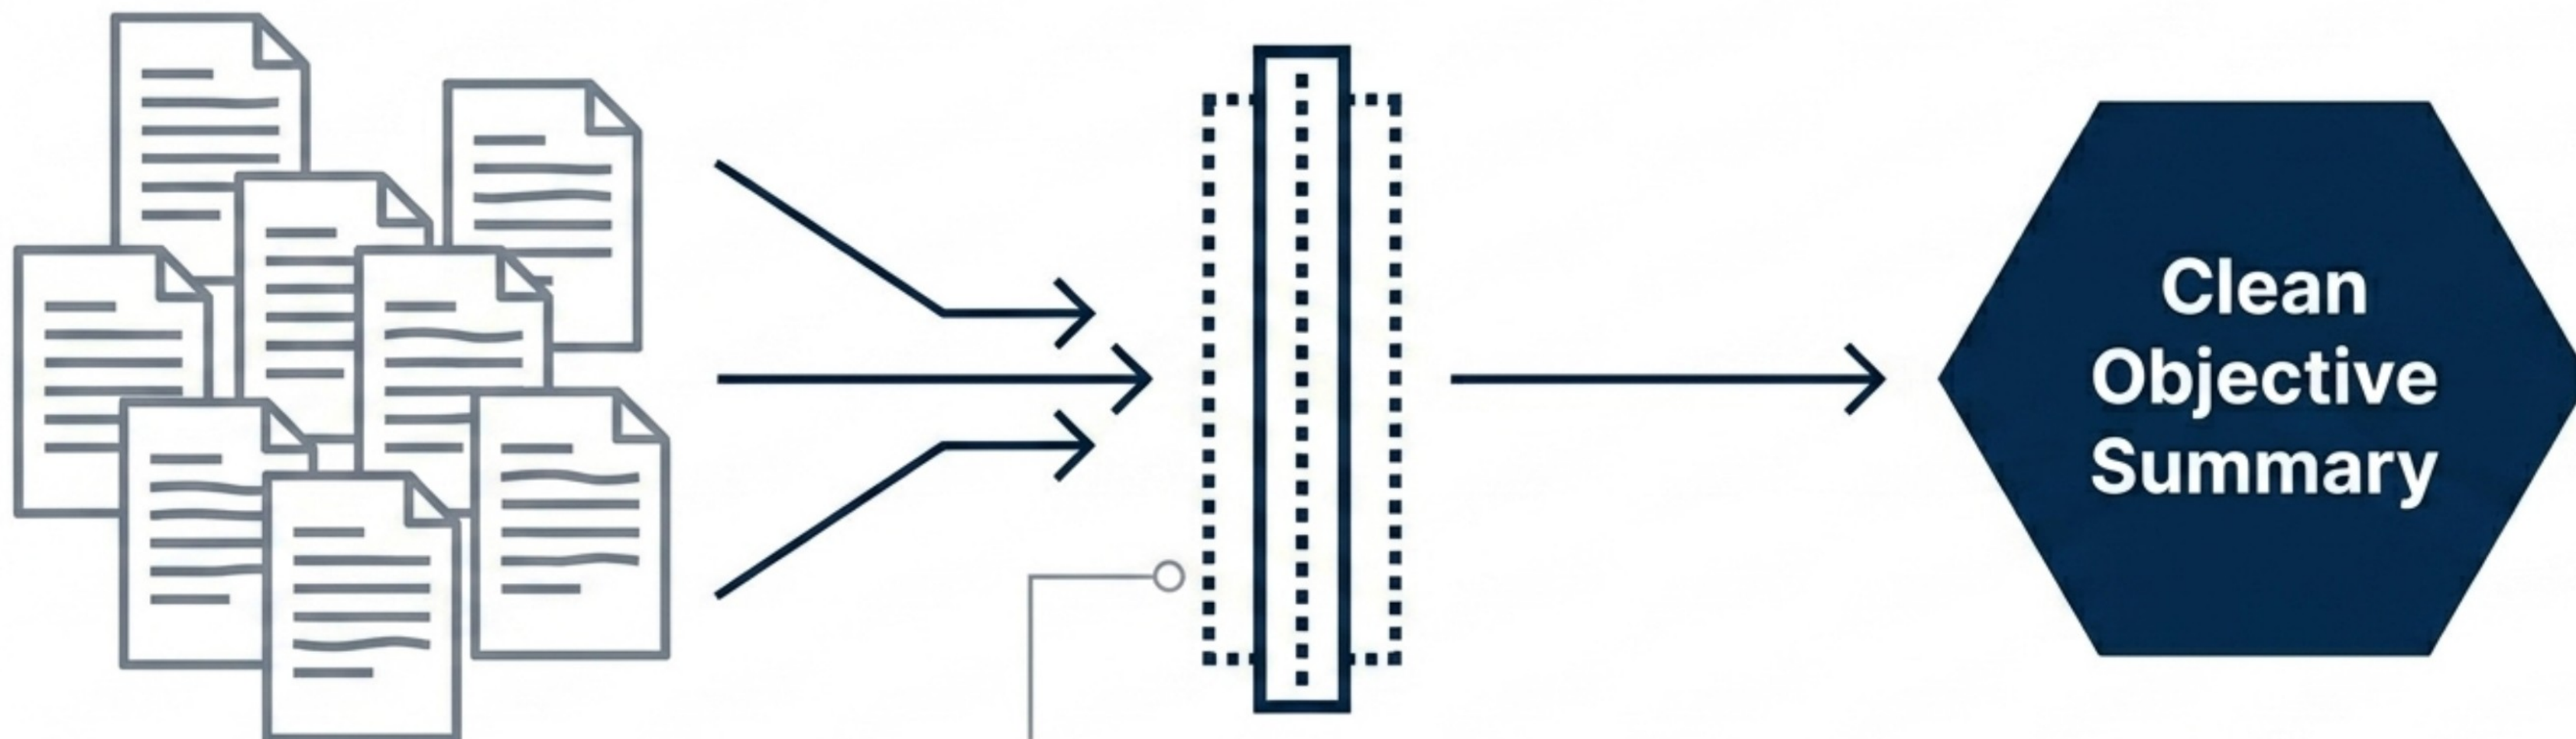

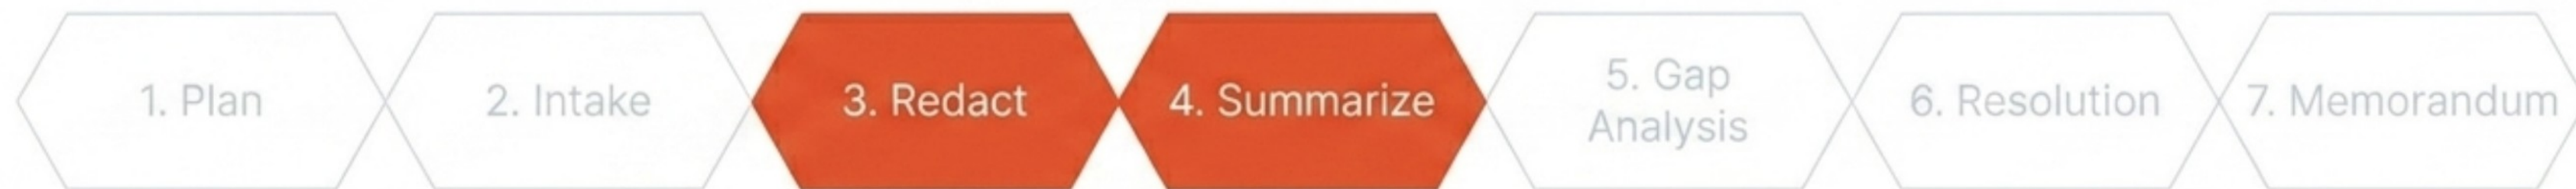

Establishing the Foundation

Flexible paths allow any participant to initiate the structure and submit documented inputs seamlessly.

Processing Raw Inputs into Objective Data

Personal information masked to models, connectors, and public copies.

Symmetric Fact-Finding

1. Plan

2. Intake

3. Redact

4. Summarize

5. Gap
Analysis

6. Resolution

7. Memorandum

Party B Documented Inputs

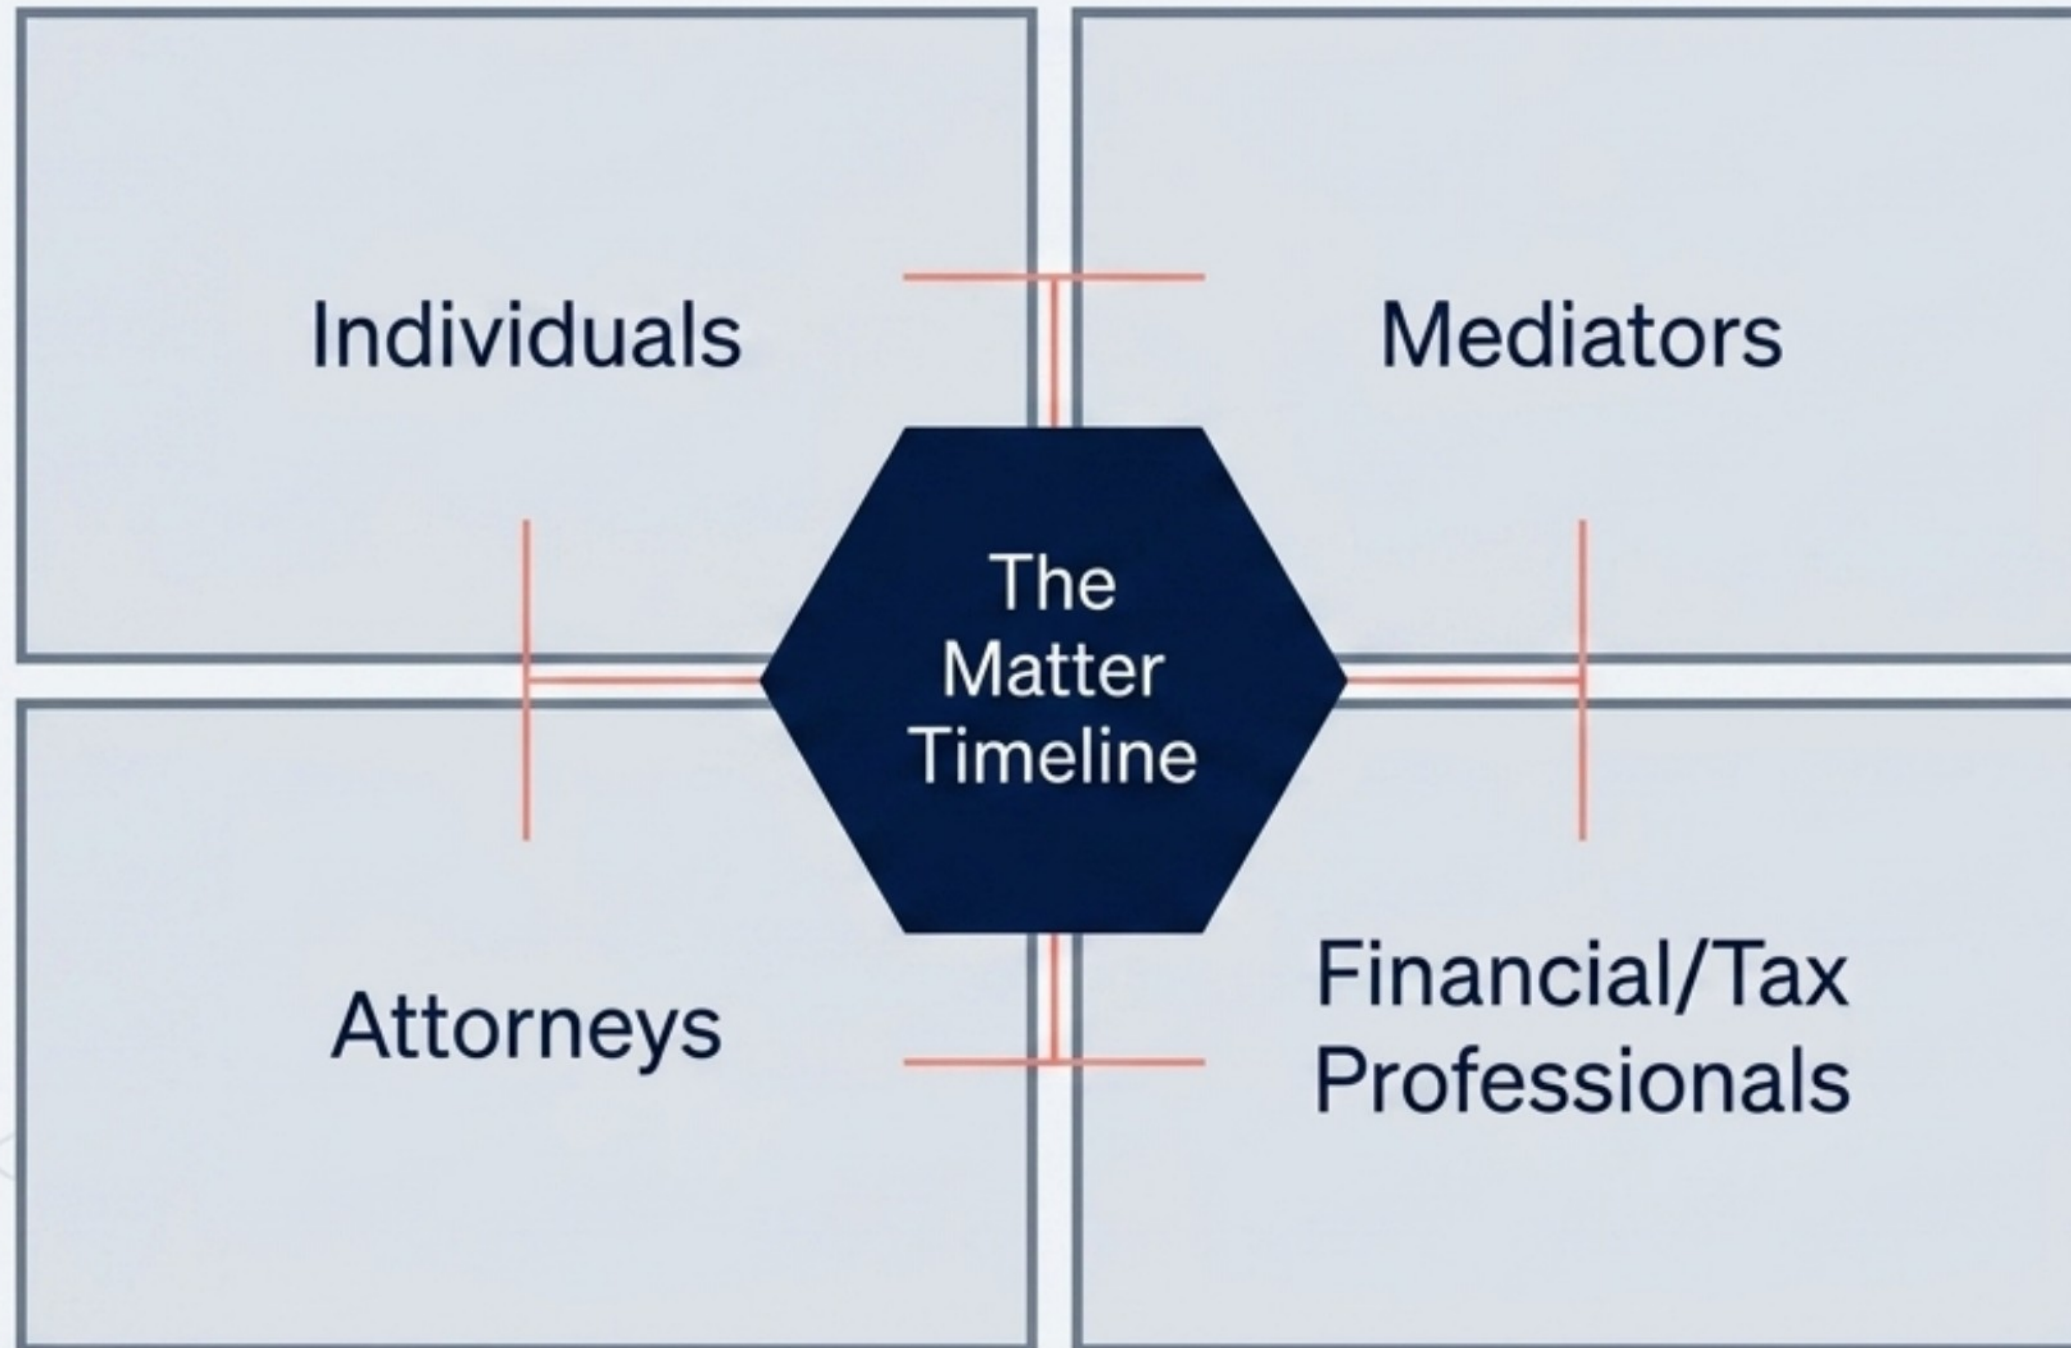

Both sides see exactly where documentation aligns, where it differs, and where evidence is missing—with zero subjective interpretation.

Surfacing Options, Symmetrically

A neutral, symmetrically formatted memorandum presented to the parties and their counsel for review. JusticeX surfaces options; it never recommends a settlement.

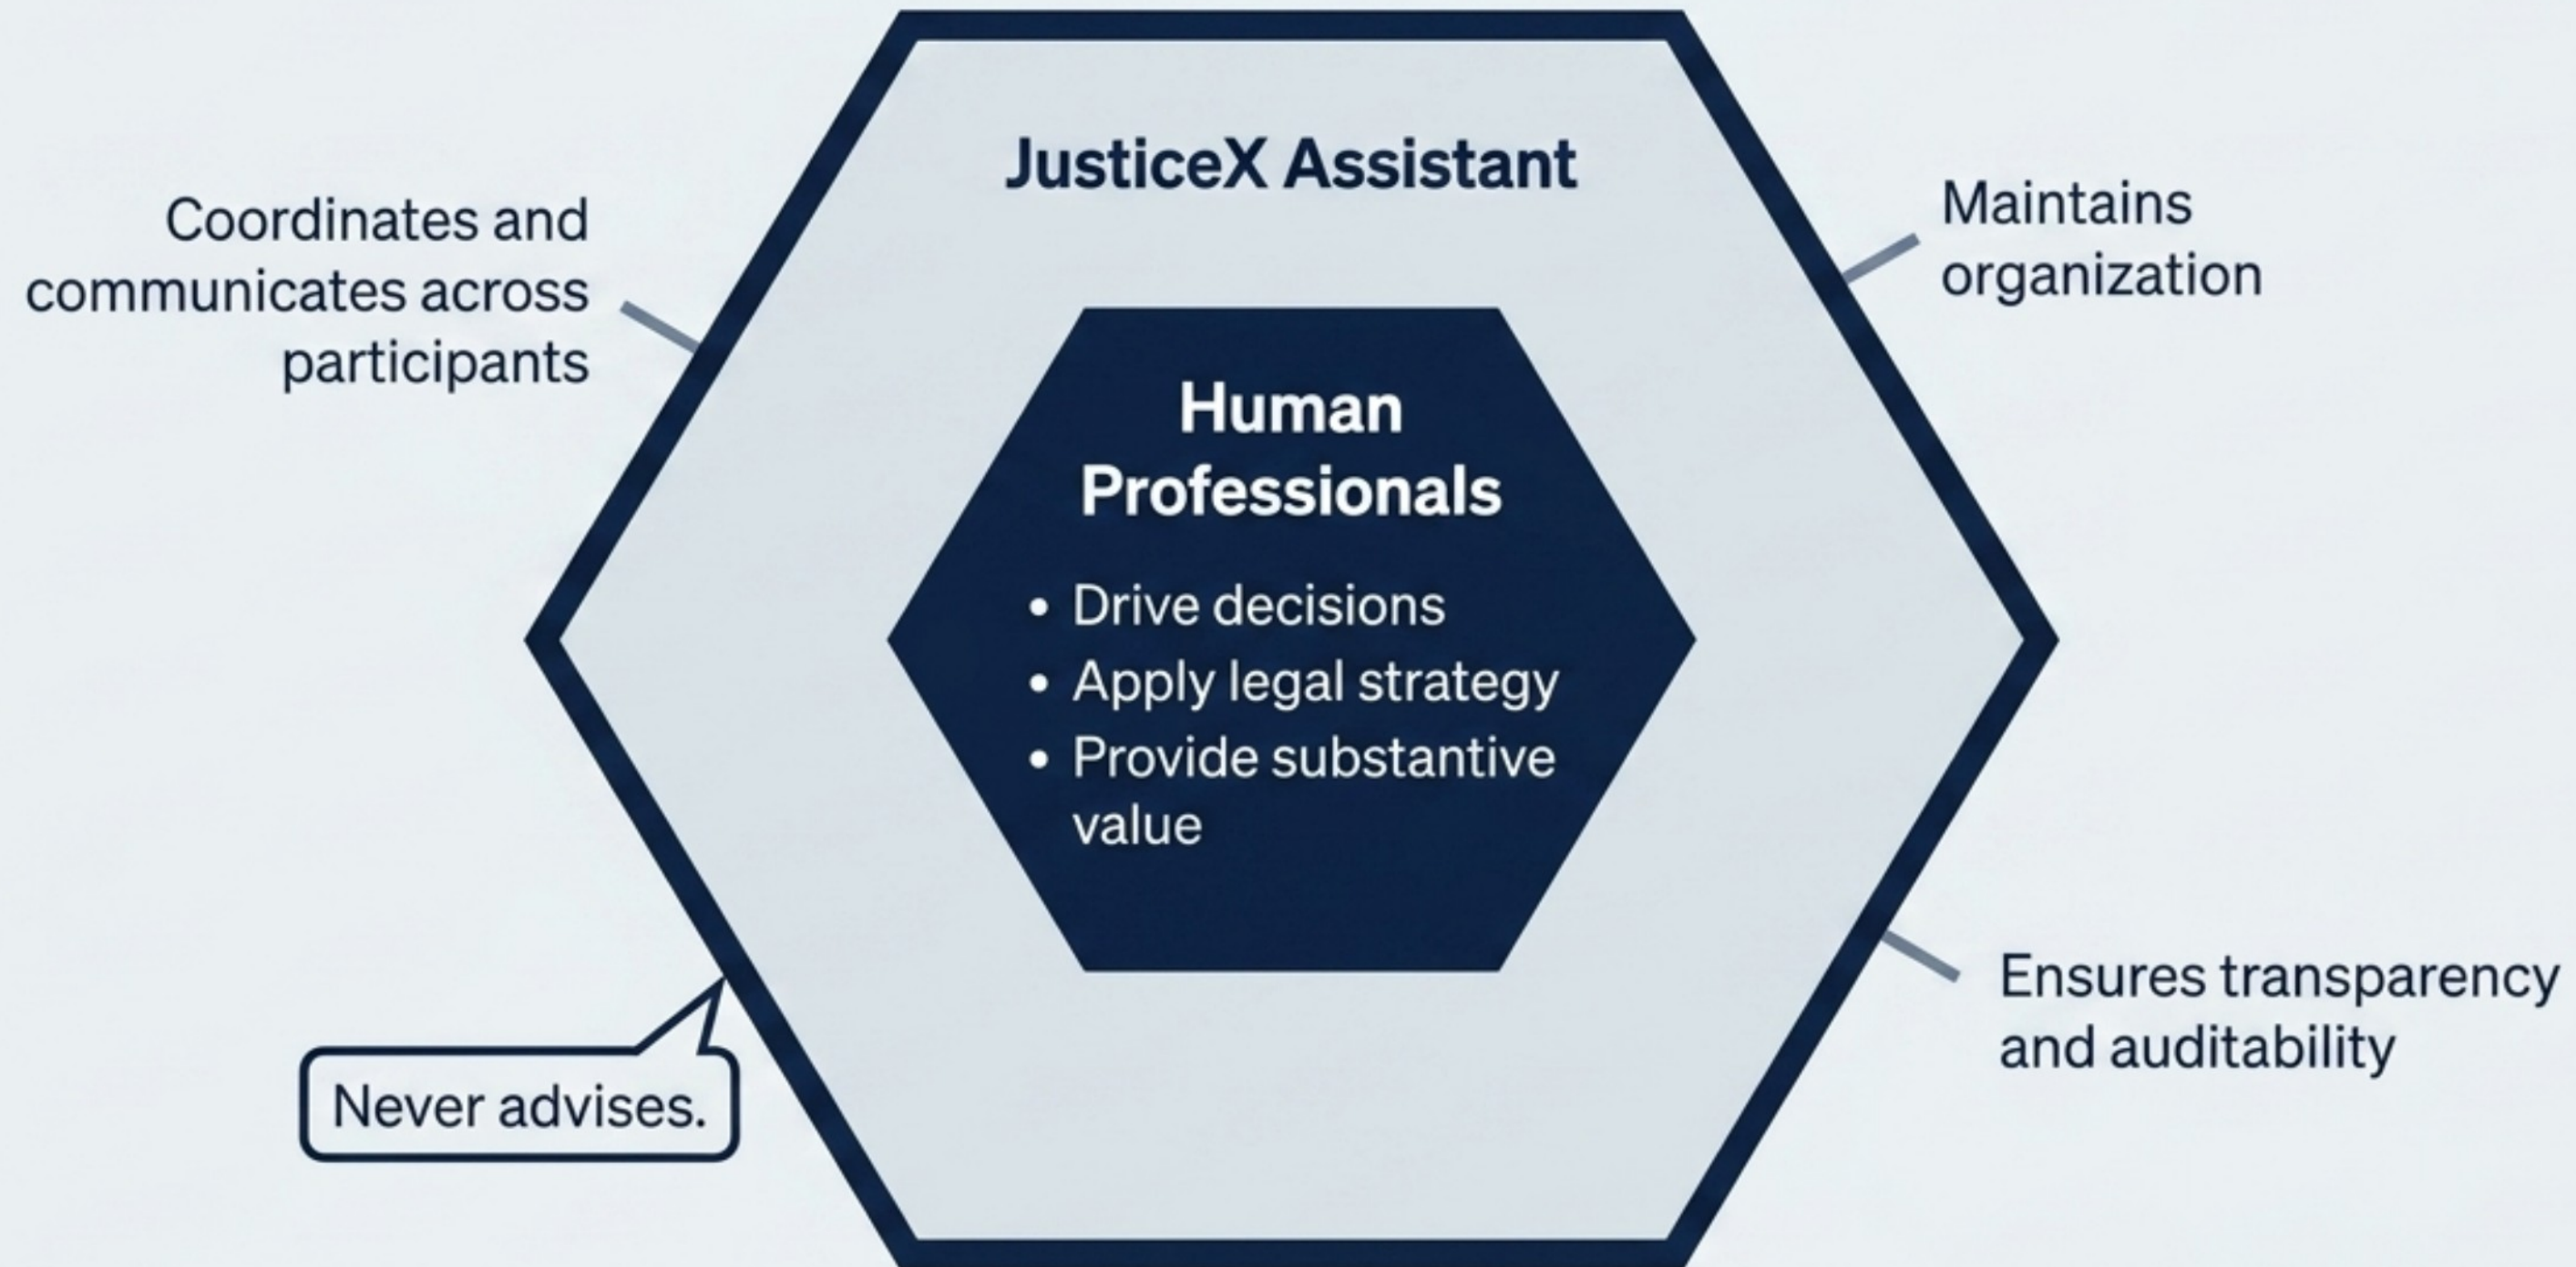

One Process, Flexible Paths

Any user can lead the entire matter, a single matter, or a single step.

Roles can transition flexibly at any time as the dispute evolves.

AI Coordination vs. Human Substantive Value

The assistant coordinates the mechanism. Humans drive the resolution.

Built on Leading Responsible-AI Safeguards

Human Oversight

Drafts are generated purely as a starting point for people to review, never as a substitute for human decisions.

Verifiable Authority

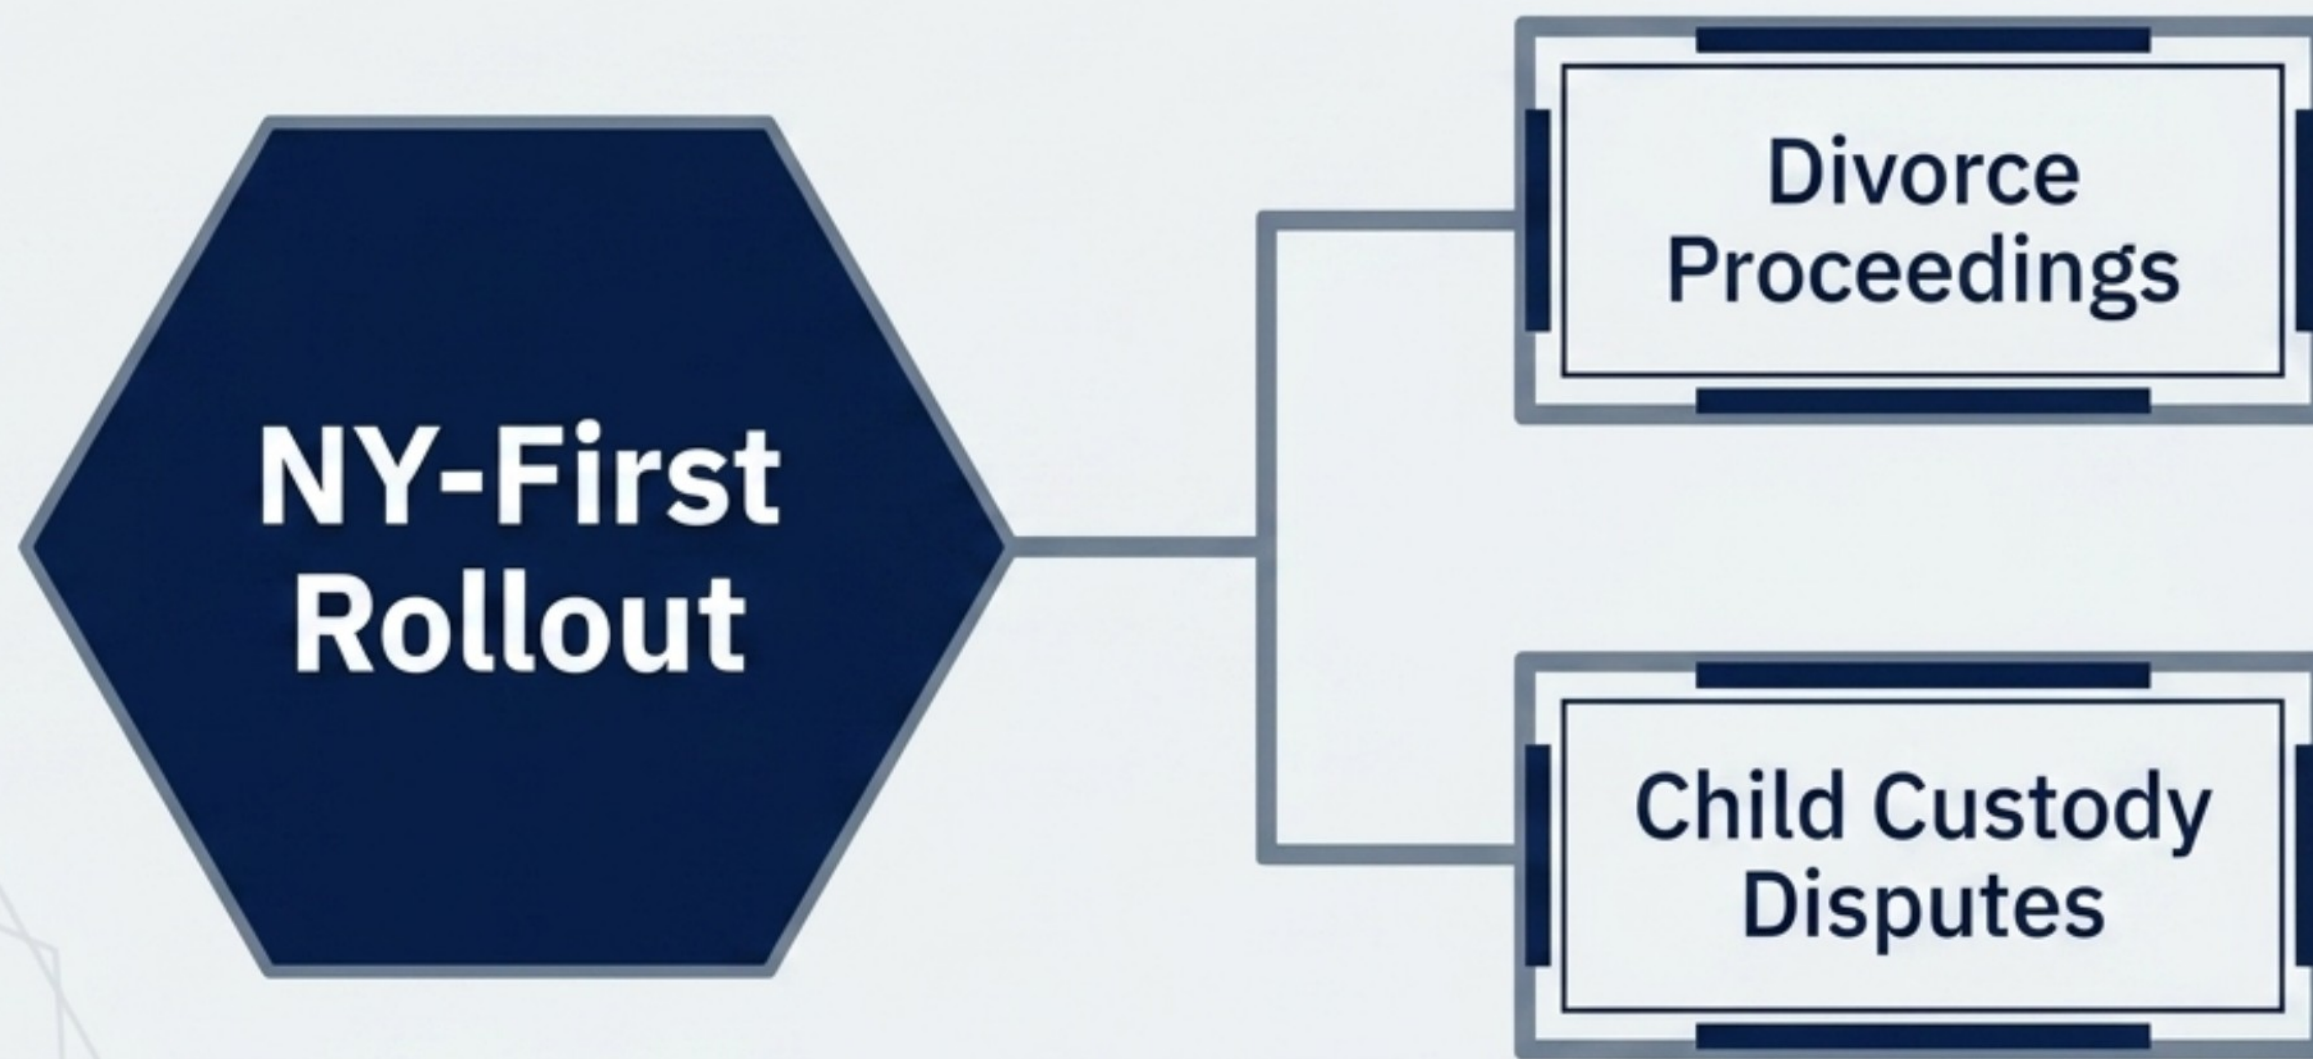

Rigorous verification of any cited authority, backed by a tamper-evident audit trail for absolute transparency.

Absolute Privacy

All Personal Identifiable Information (PII) is systematically masked to models, external connectors, and any public copy.

The First Wave: NY Divorce & Child Custody

Applying the seven-step pipeline to areas burdened by extreme documentation and emotional asymmetry. JusticeX brings objective clarity to complex family disputes.
